

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT...

Pre-Arrangement

Americans are planners. We plan for our education, our weddings, our children, and our retirement. The next step naturally is planning for our funeral and burial. More and more Americans are discovering the importance of pre-arrangement.

- ➔ Pre-arrangement is an insurance policy. It insures that you will be remembered as you wish to be. Your family will have no questions as to what you would have wanted.
- ➔ Pre-arrangement insures that, in their bereavement, your family will not be tempted to overspend. Some people feel that the amount spent on final arrangements is synonymous with their love for the deceased. It is difficult to make economically sound decisions under such emotional duress.
- ➔ Pre-arrangement insures that your widow/widower or other survivors will not be burdened with finding the means to pay for your burial. Your family will not be forced to continue working to pay off your burial debt.
- ➔ Pre-arrangement is especially important to families with lower incomes; families who can least afford the added expense of a funeral. When payment is made or arranged in advance, there is no need to have to raise or borrow funds.
- ➔ Pre-arrangement allows you to select your burial lot, crypt or niche well in advance. You have greater selection and the luxury of time to choose the best location.
- ➔ Pre-arrangement is a secure investment adding to the actual value of your estate.
- ➔ Pre-arrangement protects you and your family from inflation. Buying your family burial plot today means the price will never increase in the many tomorrows ahead.
